

DEALER'S DRAW

THE PARTY: 'Ignite,' presented by Gen Art and Morongo Casino Resort and Spa THE VENUE: Decked out like a 1920s speakeasy, The Henry Fonda Theater opened its doors to flicks, fashion and a wheelin' and dealin' casino THE PLAYERS: Gen Art cofounder Stefan Gerard hosted a dice-rolling crowd of L.A. artists, designers and indie film buffs THE CAUSE: To give budding artists—from fashion and film to performance and painting—a chance to schmooze and strut their stuff BEST IN SHOW: DJ Vaginal Davis played up

Bobby Pinz and Michelle Carr

Jennifer Egan and Natalie McAdams

the 1920s theme—and his flair for femme fatale fashion—with a platinum-blond-bob wig and a pink flapper frock THE SCANDAL: One intrepid art lover bared it all for the cause as graffiti artist Chase Diersman worked his aerosol magic all over her topless chest —AUDREY DAVIDOW
